"Americans Must Rule America." This is one of the cardinal principals of the American party. Is there anything objectionable in the sentiment? Do foreigners come to this country in the hope or expectation of ruling it? If they do, they have more presumption than good sense, and deserve to be rebuked. Do the Democracy desire that they should rule? Far from it. They are willing to use foreigners to place themselves in power; but, in their nominations for important and lucrative offices, they usually take care to select none but natives. Foreigners are the instruments to help native Democrats to power—and are seldom or never trusted ocrats to power-and are seldom or never trusted in a subordinate capacity, notwithstanding the pretended equality upon which they pointments are to be made to lucrative offices, natives are generally selected. Foreigners are employed by the Democracy to do the fighting at elections, and the dirty work of to the fort! They get the broken heads and bloody noses, whilst their employers coolly keep aloof from danger, and encourage them to risk life it self for the party. They are taught to believe, on their arrival in this country, that there is no aristocracy in the Democratic ranks-that the opponents of Democracy represent the lords and aristocrats of the old world, and the Democrats the down trodden people; but this is only for ef-feet. The most obtruse foreigners cannot have failed to observe the line of distinction which is drawn between the Irishmau or Germau, and the leaders of Democracy. They come here with the most extravagant ideas of the liberty and equality which prevail—and, before they have the op-portunity to become acquainted with the real state of things, they are culisted under the Democratic standard, with the erroneous idea that they are thereby opposing those who are aspiring to be come the lords of the land.

But why should foreigners be so anxious to participate in the political disputes of the country? What real interest have they in the decision of the question, who shall be President of the United States? Do they suppose, that, by assisting a Democrat into power they better their own condition? If they do, they are mistaken. They still remain in the same subordinate capacity. They may take a pride in overturning the native voice of the country; but it leaves them precisely They never ean rule the counwhere they were. try whilst the natives preserve a single atom of American feeling or principle. "Americans must rule America," and they will, in despite of all opposit.on—and it is right. Men who seek this country as an asylum from the oppressions of the old world, should be content with receiving the protection of our laws, and with having the fruits of their labor secured to them, without seeking to become rulers of the land.

They should remain with us a sufficient time to become familiarized to the institutions of the country, and to be americanized before aspiring to be dictators—but their impatience to mingle in the political strife will brook no delay; and they scarcely land upon our shores, before they plunge into party contentions, and become the most boisterous of pot house politicians. They even seek to strike from our national constitu-tion, the most sacred of its features, and to substitute vice, immorality and irreligion in their stead. Our Presidents must be displaced as their whims may dictate—our Sabbaths be abol ished—aud alheism the dominant faith of the

Suppose that American citizens in foreign cour tries were to combine to overthrow the prevailing system of Government there, and to introduce the grossest licentiousness—what would be the result? Why, they would speedily find themselves incar cerated within the four walls of a prison for the outrage and be subjected, perhaps, to capital pun ishment for their crime But, even the convicts of Europe think themselves entitled to instruct us Yankees in matters of Government, morals and religion and hence they unite themselves to the Democracy of the country to carry out their The American people have seen and felt the injustice which they have suffered from this impertinent interference of foreigners, and resolved that it shall no longer be tolerated

They will rule their own county in the manne which may seem to be best to themselves-and they will place such restrictions upon future emigrants, as shall deprive them of the power of be coming electors before they know anything of the principles upon which our Government should be administered. Were the present American party to be dissolved, another would arise to earry out the great principle, that "Americans must rule America"—for the sons and grandsons of Revolutionary parents will never consent that their eountry shall be handed over to the guidance of the refuse population of Europe.

WASHIGGTUN, Sept. 21. THE LATEST NEWS FROM WASHINGTON .- It has been decided to remove Wm. F. There is one thing of the utmost importance to those who seek these places, and I may as well state it. It has been generally the ease heretofore to send to foreign countries, men from the United States without regard to their lingual at-tainments. This practice is now to be dispensed with, and for the better good of our interests, and to ensure a competent capacity in making per-fectly intelligible to other powers the desires and demands of our Government, sufficient evidence must be given to the President and his Cabinet onee to commence with the current duties of his

"The Star-Spangled Banner."

Associated with the bombardment of Fort McHenry—which we noticed on the anniversary of the retreat of the British from their failure on Baltimore—is an episode which cannot fail to receive lustre from, and give lustre to, the incidents eircumstances. A friend of Key being a prisoner in the hands of the British, he sought Admiral Cochrane, to effect an exchange, and was retain ed during the bombardment of Fort MeHenry. Placed on board a small vessel close to the Ad miral's frigate, he beheld with almost overpower reach the enemy useless. The American guns fell far short of reaching the British; the British hurled their shells over the fort. How his heart must have throbbed as the English drew nearer

> What eager suspense must have devoured these nents, until-lo! Armistead's batteries opened, and with their well-directed fires poured shame, terror, and death into the British squadron, and drove it back, beyond the reach of the American guns. How the heart of the patriotic Prisou Inspector, Thos. Kirkpatrick. Baltimorean must have leaped in exultation as the British receded, and the echoes of the three cheers from the fort burst upon his ear! All day his eyes watched that low fortification; night came, and still the flag of his country was flying defiantly. Throughout the night the sleepless watcher strained his eyes to see, by the light of exploding shells if his flag was still there. Fitgleams occasionally struck their rays against the rival stars and stripes; and thus, as it were, the enemy, by illumining the flag, gave cheer and inspiration to one whose words will for centuries make every American a watcher of Fort MeHen As the night deepened and the intermission of preparation for a grand attack in the morning lengthened, an intense, ealm passion kept his eyes still in the direction of the fort, praying for

If his delighted eyes could not have seen the immortal flag, the resonant belching of ombshells and roaring of cannon would have proclaimed to his senses that it still waved its nteous folds. The pent-up thanksgivings of his soul, suffused with the emotions, prayers, hopes, and longings of such a night, burst forth into that picturesque, proud, and defiant ode, which has become forever associated with the banner, whose fate on this occasion inspired it. The song uever should be printed without the history of its inspiration; nor is that page of history com plete without the song:

Gov. BARSTOW AND DR. As we shall publish a full report of the exhibi tion of the Agricultural Society now in progress in our paper of next week, we shall omit any thing but a very brief notice of it now. The weather, upon which the success of such an exhi pition must, in a great measure, depend, was, at the beginning, exceedingly unfavorable. Tuesday morning was cold, cloudy and gloomy. A little rain fell just after daylight and the whole forenoon gave promise of more. This had the effect to diminish, very materially, the number of those who would otherwise have been in attendance. Still, considering the state of the weathcrowd was large, much more could reasonably have been expected. The show of fine cattle, always an attractive one in this county, was fixed for that day and drew to it many who would hardly have braved the cold and rain for anything else. The number of the ladies pres ent was quite large, indicating their interest in the

Of the display of stock it is scarcely necessary to speak. There is never a failure here in that respect. We have seen greater numbers of eattle on the grounds, but there was no marked deficiency in this respect, while in point of quality, the display was everything that could be desired. There was ess stock than usual from other counties. breeders from a distance who are in the habit of ontributing to our shows had nothing present This is a natural result of the multiplicity of Fairs all over the country. Still the show, as will be seen by the report when made, was far from be ing meagre. It would anywhere else, have been pronounced remarkably fine.

On Wednesday morning the weather was cold and foggy but cleared up towards the middle of the day and became bright and pleasant. The num ber in attendance was much larger than on the day previous. The show of fat cattle and saddle horses was about as usual.

Floral Hall was opened to the public on Tues lay evening and proved very attractive. Its long tables were filled with the products of the farm garden, orchard, dairy, loom and needle in infinite variety and of the highest excellence, while the walls and stands were beautifully ornament ed with pictures and flowers in the greatest pro-fusion. The committee who had this department in charge and the ladies who assisted-or, rather, directed and assisted-them, deserves great eredit for the industry taste and judgment with which it was prepared.

Thursday was a bright and beautiful day, and as our paper went to press, a most splendid show of Harness Horses was in progress, with the amphitheater erowded.

LAST FOND LOOKS.—When a lady (we are talking of a lady in the full height and breadth of fashion) has got her bonnet and gloves on, and is perfectly ready with her parasol in her hand, she always goes back to the looking glass to take a last fond look. A DUELIST DEAD .- "Kentucky papers announ the death of Harrod Holeman, for many years the publisher of a newspaper in Frankfort, and public orinter of the State, and connected with the most stirring political events of the State in former days. He once fought a bloody and fatal duel, and was himself a cripple for life from it."-Bos

The duel referred to in the extract copied will probably be recollected by many of the gentle-men of the press who remember days long gone It was one of the most savage and brutal affairs that transpired thirty and five years ago.—
It grew out of a militia training Holeman, who was the commander of a mititia company, was followed, whilst on duty, by a favorite dog. A subordinate officer, who was offended by the dog's antics, drew his sword, smote him, and cut the innocent and unintentionally offending dog in

Holeman, in witnessing the assassination of the poor dog, remarked that whoever would perpetrate an act of the kind was a coward and scoundrel. A challenge to mortal combat was the consequence. It was accepted, and the parties met near the State Honse, at Frankfort, Ken tucky, and fought desperately, two hours and up wards; and during the fight, the antagonist of Holeman was killed—the latter escaping with des

Among those who witnessed the duel were Henry Clay, John J. Crittenden, and Jesse Bled the latter, then, one of the most brilliant and distinguished orators of Kentucky. Holeman was arraigned, charged with the crime of wilful murder, and, after a long and exciting trial, was acquitted. Mr. Clay and John J. Crittenden es poused the cause of Holeman .- New York Mer

The above paragraph is evidently intended to cast a reflection upon the State of the public morals in Kentucky, and does gross injustice to Mr. Holeman, one of the parties in the unfortunate affair alluded to; and in mere justice to the deceased we deem it our duty to correct it. The origin of the affair was nearly as stated, except that upon Holeman's antagonist's learning that Holeman had denounced the act as one of great cruelty, words ensued, blows were passed on the spot, and then a challenge to Holeman was the vesult. They did not fight, as stated, "near the State House, at Frankfort;" the duel occured at a distance of four or five miles from this City, and was witnessed only by the seconds, surgeons, and one or two friends of the parties. The statement that they "fought desperately, two hours, and up wards"-leaving the reader to suppose that it was a savige butchery, with knives, occurring in the town, and witnessed by the citizens of the place is an abominable falsehood. The duel was, in all respect an ordinary one. The combatants fought, as we understand, with pistols, at ten paces -the usual distance-and both fell at the very first fire, and it was at first supposed that Holeman would also die. There was nothing "savage and brutal" about the affair. But it was a settlement of a personal difficulty between two young men, not differing in any respect from the duels which were, at that day, of frequent occurrence, and in which some of the best and greatest men of the country were involved.

It is unjust to speak of the deceased as a "duel ist." The unfortunate affair of which we have spoken was the first and only duel in which he was ever engaged, and his disposition was the very reverse of that of a professional duelist. When a young man he fought most gallantly at the battle of the Thames, where the flower of old Kentucky's chivalry attested full well their courage and patriotism, and it was only in defense of ountry that he ever evinced anything like 'desperation." All who knew Harrod Holeman knew him to be a kind hearted, generous, amiable, peaceable and gallant gentleman-a man with a few frailties, but many virtues.

It is also untrue that Hon. John J. Critttenden was a witness to the duel. Mr. Crittenden was not living in Frankfort at the time the duel was fought, 1819, and never saw the gentleman who was slain in the combat; nor did he ever see Mr. Hole man until some time after the occurrence. He was in no way mixed up with the affair, and knew nothing of it except from common report. Nor did either Mr. Clay or Bledsoe know anything about the affair, until it was over, neither Clay, Bledsoe nor Crittenden defended Holeman John Rowan, Sr., was his lawyer, and Mr. Aller was the Prosecuting Attorney.

REV. J. P. SAFFORD, D. D .- The papers annonnce that the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Divinity has recently been conferred by one of the Eastern Colleges, (Washington,) on the esteemed Pastor of the Presbyterian Church in this city, Rev. Mr. Safford.

Though not unexpected, it is yet a rare distinct tion for one so early in life, he having hardly reached his 30th year; and yet we know of no one, who, from attainments or promise, have a better claim to such an honor. We happen to know something of Mr. S's course. A graduate of one of our first Universities, with distinguished honors at the age of 19-remaining for a time as an acceptable Professor of Mathematics -subsequently spending some years in Boston in the study of the Oriental and Modern languages, he then passed through an entire course in the Princeton Theological Seminary. Being elected to the charge of the department of Biblical and Oriental Litera ture in one of our Presbyterian Theological Seminaries, to which he was recommended by the Princeton Professors, he declined it in favor of the direct work of the pulpit and pastorate. He was ordained and installed over the Presbyterian Church in this city as his first charge some three years since, and has been favored with a larger accession to the membership of the Church than it has had for any like time before, as well as an increasing andience. He has also sedulously cultivated his favorite studies, and has, perhaps one of the most select and largest private libraries in the State. Among his works are some of rare interest. A copy of the original Arabic Koran brilliantly illustrated, and said to be the best edition ever published, is in his library.

We regret to hear that Dr. S. has entertained some propositions to enter upon a larger field of labor and usefniness Though not a member of any church, in common with many others, it has been our privilege to hear him frequently in the pulpit; and we join with many in the expression of our admiration of his talents as a preacher and host of friends in the Capitol city.

IMPORTANT PENSION DECISION .- The Secretar of the Interior recently submitted to the Attorney General the question whether the practice here tofore prevailing in the Pension Office, of allow ing children of Revolutionary soldiers to receive the pensions which their deceased parents might have received, was according to law. The Attorney General to-day rendered his opinion, declaring that the practice has no legal foundation, and that neither children nor grandchildren have be electors and elligible, and should be allowed any such right under the acts of Congress. The onsequence of this will be to reverse a practice of the Pension Office which has continued for twenty-five years. The Attorney General gives the law, but declines to say whether the law should abolish the practice or the practice defeat the law, leaving that as an administration question to the Secretary himself.

The Catholic Leader, organ of the Pope, and New York ally of Bos STEWART, in St. Lonis, in its issue of the 12th instant says:

"If Major Rollins' vote is to be taken as the Emancipation vote of the State, the singular an amoly is presented of the Emancipation candi date receiving his principal strength among the most ultra pro slavery men of the State."

For once, the Leader tells the truth, but, in do ing so, proves that it was guilty of lying in the thousand and one times it declared that ROLLINS was the candidate of the Black Republicans. If Rollins received "his principal strength amon the most ultra pro-slavery men in the State, then, he was their candidate, and not the candi date, of the Black Republicans. But where did Stewart receive his principal strength? We could answer the interogatory at length, but prefer to give the answer of a "National Democrat," in the Republican—from the non-slaveholders, eman cipationists and free soilers of our State. Who, then, was the Black Republican candidate? Stew wart, of course.—Lexington (Mo.,) Express.

Grent Bank Excitement in Philadelphin! A Suspension intrciputed!

PHILABELPHIA, Sep. 25. The Bank of Pennsylvania suspended thi morning. The suspension is complete, and the president says it was caused by the action of other banks against it and losses from recent failures of dry goods men. He says the suspension will be only temporary, and that the capital is nn touched. The Girard Bank is giving specie for its notes, but checks will not be honored till on

There is a heavy run on the city banks, and all the counters of the banks are besieged with de positers and note holders. There is much nlarm and almost suspension of business. The Girard still refuses payment for checks and notes above ten dollars. The Commercial and several other banks have taken the same course, and the pres ent heavy run will probably cause all the banks to suspend specie payments. The Penusylvania bank has charge of the State funds, and the Gi-rard those of the city. The excitement is becoming intense.

Sen worthiness of the Central America Run Chuch on the Sabbath after the 1st Saturday and the Illinois-Why her Name was in each month Changed. To the Editor of the Evening Post:

Having made two trips in her from New York, I think my opinion of the steamer sustained, and will be by all parties who have among all seafaring men who ever made a trip is her; so much so, that parties going out to Cali fornia, were afraid to go in her, and her owners changed her name to "Central America," so that miners would not know it was the George Law till on board. The less the owners of the Lav sav in relation to her sea-worthiness, the better both in reference to the Law, and also the Illinois the other boat on the line; and if there is an in vestigation in relation to the disaster, I am pre pared to show she would have been condemned a year ago, and also that the Illinois is not in Great Contest of Corn and Cob Mills at Cincinnati, Feb. 23, 1856.

BRAND'S PREMIUM MILL VICTORIOUS. To correct the false impressions caused by va rious statements through the public prints, we give below the results of a calculation made by an Ohio farmer, and published in the Cincinnati Gazette about the 28th or 29th of February, wherein he gives the full data of a tabular calcu lation, showing that Brand's Premium Mill ground four bushels as fine in 491/2 revolutions as the double mill of Scott & Hedges ground in 64 revotions-both mills using the same amount of power, which is put at 450 pounds. By this ealculation it has been fully demonstrated that Brand's Premium Mill is the best now before the public. The Little Giant proper, as known to the farmers, did not appear in the contest, but a double mill in its stead, which was badly beaten

P. S. This mill uses several east-steel blades, which is a decided improvement on all other mills. March 23, 1856-tf.

PATENT PLANTER & SOWER.

This is an ingenine machine, for which letters partent were granted to Mr. Horra William in May lust. It was exhibited during the last reason at several State Fairs, always commanding nulversal admiration. Large quantities are now being manufactared for need during the coming spring, and it is believed that a machine that accomplishes so greats asving of labor, must at once come into general use. It is espicially adapted for the South, and our enterprising planters will find it worthy of their attention. The machine is of about the size of an ordinary eart. The following description is from a late number of the United States Jewenat:

"To the agriculturist this its, nudoubtedly the most valuable patent that has been itseed for many years. It is intended for sowing broadcast, covering and harrowing at the same time, for sowing in drills and also for planting in hills, and will accomplish either object as well as could possibly be done by hand. The gratu is placed in cylinders, which are made to revolve with the motion of the whe. Iso the eart. As the holders rotate the grain passes out through the screens to the ground. The seed are evenly distributed and the machine may be regulated to sow any given amount to the acre with perfect accuracy. The grain is covered by the revolving harrow, which receive sits unotion from the car, wheels. This harrow revolves with great rapidity in the opposite direction from its forward motion, thus harrowing up the ground tustead of matting it down, and tearing them behind lustead of drawling them together in bunches as with the common harrow. The holders can easily be taken off, and the revolving harrow used for mellowing and preparing the ground, which can be accountished with it much anore rapidly and cilicionity than with a harrow constructed on any other plan.

"For sowing in drills the harrow is taken of aud the ground, which can be accountished with its much the eigraving on the luclined board, are changed so as to meet off, and the revol CONFECTIONERS AND DEALERS IN FINE GROCERIES OF ALL KINDS, English and American Sauces and Pickles, Havana Cigars, Foreign and American Sweet Mests, &c. NEW YO K LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

A l'a meeting of the Board of Directors, at Frankfort A for the New York Life Insurance Company, ou Satterday, the 1st day of March, 1856, the following resolution was ananimously adopted. The undersigned, President and Directors of the Company, have examined the report and exhibits of the New York Life Insurance Company for the last year, embracing a full statement of its affairs, assets, &c. to the 1st of January, 1856, and being satisfied with the perfect sound condition of the Company, cordialty recommend it to the encouragement and support of the whole community.

"It commenced its operations tweive years ago, with $50,000, which has accumulated to $1,459,00 65, principally invested in state stocks, and in bouls and mort gages, believed to be undoubtedly good.

"We know of no mode of investing money more profitably. The profits are mutual for the insured, and have averaged not less than thirty per cent. annually on the premium paid."
